Information intended for you

You transferred on the date stated above to a new organiser who is also part of the multi-organiser pension scheme.

From this date, the rights and obligations arising from this pension scheme will be borne in full by the organiser you have joined, including the guarantees referred to in Article 24 of the Supplementary Pensions Act.

Therefore, any mathematical reserves, including profit-sharing provisions, accrued before this date in the employer's contribution agreement and in the personal contribution agreement in the pension commitment of the organiser you are leaving shall be transferred to the pension commitment of the organiser you have joined, both insured by Vivium.

Your pension commitment will not change in any way as a result at the time of transfer.

However, we (the organiser you have left) we remain severally liable to you for the accrued entitlements up to the date shown above, should the new organiser fail to comply.
